This image will still be remembered in 100 years, like the Rahn goal World Cup 1954 and Maradona's „Hand of God“ World Cup 1986. - The original final shirt of Mario Götze! - Original match issued / prepared player's shirt of Germany with the back number 19 for the scorer of the goal for 1:0 in 113 minute Mario Götze, who thus shot Germany to the World Cup title. Götze was only substituted in the 88th minute on 13.07.2014 in the World Cup final against Argentina. Germany - Argentina 1:0 n.v. Status: AAA. With original dedication by Mario Götze given in the Maracana Stadium on 13th July shortly after the match and the award ceremony. Museum piece. This match worn shirt is still in the possession of the Götze family. The shirt on offer comes directly from Mario Götze's dressing room, where it shirt was on a hanger, ready for use in the final. Sitting in the VIP box at the 2014 World Cup final was a well-known German sports personality who was a friend of Mario Götze's as well as of numerous members of the DFB delegation at the time. After the 1:0, the enthusiasm was so great that this person asked a member of Joachim Löw's coaching staff, who was in the VIP stand to watch the match from this position, whether it would be possible to get an original Götze shirt. After the match, Hansi Flick, to whom this request was made, approached this person and gave him Götze's shirt from the German team's changing room. The person had this shirt personally signed by Mario Götze after the award ceremony in the stadium and had this shirt dedicated to the name of one of his children. The shirt worn in the match will most likely not be put on the market and if it would, it would probably be for a high six-figure or seven-figure sum. Götze's shoe cost 1 million! This match issued shirt was part of the 2014 World Cup final and would have been used if Götze had been substituted earlier (e.g. early 2nd half) or if the shirt Götze wore during his 32 minute match had been severely damaged. The shirt is therefore part of the German team's World Cup victory. The shirt comes directly from the family of the famous German person. All information has been verified by AGON-Sportsworld.

He received the jersey directly from Ancelotti at one of the tournaments, but cannot remember when. Italy wore these shirts at both tournaments. This can be seen on Ancelotti's shirts at UEFA Euro 1988 and at the Italy versus England 3rd place match at the 1990 World Cup. There is a photo from the 3rd place match at the 1990 World Cup that suggests the tearing at the collar (for licensing reasons we cannot show the picture). Ancelotti won numerous national and international titles, including the European Champion Clubs' Cup twice as a player and the Champions League three times as a coach. Cotton shirt of the brand „ARIBA“, size 6. Status: ABB. Gift from DFB national coach Sepp Herberger! Short sleeved cotton shirt. This shirt was only worn in this version in three matches (Germany - Yugoslavia on 25th September 1955; versus the USSR on 21st August 1953 and versus England on 26th May 1956). The number „4“ was worn in these matches. The design of the shirt is identical to that of the shirt which was worn in the 1954 World Cup final. With sewn-in, embroidered „ARIBA“ label. Sewn on, embroidered DFB linen logo, 8 lacing holes. Sewn on linen number. Several minor damages due to being worn in matches, partly small darned areas. Stains on the chest (blood?). The shirt is made of cotton, the DFB logo is made of linen. The consignor received this shirt personally from Sepp Herberger in about 1960. Herberger came to Weinheim from his home in Hohensachsen, which is near Weinheim, to honour a youth player and presented this shirt to one of the distinguished youth players, saying that it was a shirt from the 1958 World Cup. Unfortunately, the honoured youth player cut off this shirt a bit because it was too long for him. He wore this shirt on a few special occasions, but never in football matches. The shirt remains in the possession of the former youth player to this day. ARIBA is a small shirt manufacturer from southern Hesse, they also supplied Eintracht Frankfurt in the late 1950s. The DFB's standard supplier for national team shirts in the 1950s was „Leuzela“. The DFB was a poor association at the time and ordered very few shirts from Leuzela, as the associations had to pay for the shirts themselves. There was no shirt sponsorship yet. The shirts were all washed after the matches, repaired if damaged and used for several matches. The kit manager of the national team had to make sure that a complete identical kit was available for each match (i.e. No. 1-11, as there were no substitutions in those days). Sometimes one or two shirts were missing from a kit because they could no longer be repaired or were too badly damaged by washing. Presumably, these missing shirts were ordered individually from the company „ARIBA“, which was located not far from the DFB (Frankfurt). It was not uncommon for the players in a match to wear the same shirts, but by different manufacturers (e.g. the 1972 European Championship, the DFB had both „Erima“ and „Umbro“ shirts). However, it is also possible that a complete set of shirts was ordered from ARIBA and then used in these three international matches. Museum piece!

Since then the painting has been in the possession of the seller and has not been exhibited since! Fred Engelbert Knecht (1934-2010, Zurich, Switzerland). Nature and its destruction are the thematic focus of Knecht's pictorial work in all creative phases. He became known for his jungle paintings in the style of Magic Realism. „In the 1990s, Knecht's oeuvre shows an intensive engagement with art history: on the one hand, motifs of famous works of art are allusive transposed into modern life worlds (Rudolf Koller's Gotthard Post on Motorway), on the other hand, Knecht imitates forms of representation, styles and painting techniques of revered artists (series on Magritte, van Gogh, Henri Rousseau). As in the jungle paintings, Knecht uses these suggestive reworkings and paraphrases to create a critique of time grounded in ambiguous irony.“ (Sikart). This painting, an allusion to Leonardo da Vinci's „Last Supper“ (Jesus with his 12 apostles) here 13 players of the VfB Stuttgart are celebrating the championship, dates from this phase. Acrylic paintings by Knecht can be found in numerous museums and are traded at international auctions. Prices for pictures in this size range from 1.000,- to 4.000,-. 1527. Fencing World Championships 1978 original Sword. Original competition epee of Alexander Pusch (GER) with which he won the title in the epee singles at the 1978 World Fencing Championships in Hamburg. Metal, handle inside with red felt and manufacturer's imprint „Uhlmann Fechtgeräte“. With complete electronic installations. Length: approx. 104 cm. On the hand shield of Alexander Pusch handwritten inscription „World Champion 1978. Hamburg 19.07.“ and original signature with blue felt pen „Pusch Alexander“. Blade slightly rusty; competition marks. Alexander Pusch gave this epee to a high-ranking German politician after the 1978 World Fencing Championships in Hamburg, the first World Fencing Championships on German soil. The epee comes directly from the estate of this politician! Alexander Pusch won 2x gold, 2x silver at the Olympic Games and is a 4-time fencing world champion.
1528. Fencing World Championships 1983 original foil. Original competition foil of Matthias Behr (GER) with which he presumably won the foil team title at the 1983 World Fencing Championships in Vienna. Metal, handle inside with padded red leather and manufacturer's imprint „Uhlmann Fechtgeräte“ and handwritten inscription by Behr „KM.G.M.-V. + FC TBB 1983“. With complete electronic installations. Length: approx. 105.5 cm. On the handplate original signature of Matthias Behr with black felt-tip pen. Handle marked by Matthias Behr with blue tape. In addition, foil tip wrapped by Matthias Behr with grey tape to approx. 23 cm. Blade slightly rusty; competition marks. Matthias Behr gave this epee to a high-ranking German politician after the 1983 World Fencing Championships in Hamburg. The epee comes directly from the estate of this politician! Unfortunately, we could not find a photo showing Behr with a foil during the 1983 World Championships. Matthias Behr won 1x gold, 3x silver at the Olympic Games and is a 3-time fencing world champion. During the 1982 World Fencing Championships in Rome there was a fatal accident: Behr's blade broke and fatally injured the then most successful fencer and reigning World Champion Vladimir Smirnov in the head. This probably explains the unusual taping on the foil tip that Behr made on this offered foil in 1983!
